Additional Course Policies and UCLA Policies
(From https://ceils.ucla.edu/resources/teaching-guides/syllabus-design/#toggle-id-1-closed)

Use this section to clearly communicate to students about such policies as the use of laptops/phones, tardiness, expectations related to group work, communication policies, missing class, safety requirements, or other course-specific policies.

Use of Laptops, Tablets or Phones in Class: You can decide if you want to use your laptop, tablet or phone in class. Research finds that laptop multitasking is likely to hinder not only your own learning, but also the learning of anyone who can see your laptop. For the sake of your peers’ learning, I therefore ask that if you use an electronic device during class, either only have lecture notes showing or sit in the back row.

Laptop use policies run into disability issues. Here is a blog post outlining the issues, including a collection of links to research and advocacy articles:

Message about Academic Integrity to all UCLA Students from UCLA Dean of Students: UCLA is a community of scholars. In this community, all members including faculty, staff and students alike are responsible for maintaining standards of academic honesty. As a student and member of the University community, you are here to get an education and are, therefore, expected to demonstrate integrity in your academic endeavors. You are evaluated on your own merits. Cheating, plagiarism, collaborative work, multiple submissions without the permission of the professor, or other kinds of academic dishonesty are considered unacceptable behavior and will result in formal disciplinary proceedings usually resulting in suspension or dismissal.

Forms of Academic Dishonesty: As specified in the UCLA Student Conduct Code, violations or attempted violations of academic dishonesty include, but are not limited to, cheating, fabrication, plagiarism, multiple submissions or facilitating academic dishonesty:

Cheating: Unauthorized acquiring of knowledge of an examination or part of an examination.
- Allowing another person to take a quiz, exam, or similar evaluation for you
- Using unauthorized material, information, or study aids in any academic exercise or examination – textbook, notes, formula list, calculator, etc.
- Unauthorized collaboration in providing or requesting assistance, such as sharing information
- Unauthorized use of someone else’s data in completing a computer exercise
- Altering a graded exam or assignment and requesting that it be regraded

Plagiarism: Presenting another's words or ideas as if they were one’s own.
- Submitting as your own through purchase or otherwise, part of or an entire work produced verbatim by someone else
- Paraphrasing ideas, data or writing without properly acknowledging the source
- Unauthorized transfer and use of someone else’s computer file as your own
- Unauthorized use of someone else’s data in completing a computer exercise

Multiple Submissions: Submitting the same work (with exact or similar content) in more than one class without permission from the instructor to do so. This includes courses you are currently taking, as well as courses you might take in another quarter.

Facilitating Academic Dishonesty: Participating in any action that compromises the integrity if the academic standards of the University; assisting another to commit an act of academic dishonesty.
- Taking a quiz, exam, or similar evaluation in place of another person
- Allowing another student to copy from you
- Providing material or other information to another student with knowledge that such assistance could be used in any of the violations stated above (e.g., giving test information to students in other discussion sections of the same course)

Fabrication: Falsification or invention of any information in an academic exercise.
- Altering data to support research
- Presenting results from research that was not performed
- Crediting source material that was not used for research

Sample language on cheating:

While you are here at UCLA, you may find yourself in a situation where cheating seems like a viable choice. You may rationalize to yourself that “Everyone else does it”...Well, they don’t. And will that matter when YOU get caught? NO! If you are unsure whether what you are considering doing is cheating, just ask yourself ...how would you feel if your actions were public, for anyone to see? Would you feel embarrassed or ashamed? If the answer is yes, that’s a good indicator that you are taking a risk and rationalizing it to yourself.

If after reviewing the information above, you are still unclear about any of the items – don’t take chances, don’t just take your well-intentioned friend’s advice – ASK your TA or your Professor. Know the rules - Ignorance is NO defense. In addition, avoid placing yourself in situations which might lead your TA or Professor to suspect you of cheating. For example, during an exam don’t sit next to someone with whom you studied in case your answers end up looking “too similar.”

Alternatives to Academic Dishonesty

- Seek out help – meet with your TA or Professor, ask if there is special tutoring available.
- Drop the course – can you take it next quarter when you might feel more prepared and less pressured?
- Ask for an extension – if you explain your situation to your TA or Professor, they might grant you an extended deadline.
See a counselor at Student Psychological Services, and/or your school, college or department – UCLA has many resources for students who are feeling the stresses of academic and personal pressures.

Remember, getting caught cheating affects more than just your GPA. How will you explain to your parents, family and friends that you have been suspended or dismissed? How will it affect your financial aid award and/or scholarship money? Will you be required to, and be able to pay back that money if you are no longer a student? If you live in the residence halls, where will you go if you are told you can no longer live there?

You have worked very hard to get here, so don’t cheat! If you would like more information, please come see us at the Dean of Students’ Office in 1206 Murphy Hall, call us at (310) 825-3871 or visit their website at www.deanofstudents.ucla.edu.

Please keep this syllabus easily accessible so that you can refer to it throughout the quarter. Contact me or your TA with any clarifying questions in advance of the quarter or within the first week. I look forward to getting to know you and supporting your learning in this course.
